SPEEDS HOME TO

LAND SICK MAN

Under forced draft, the beam trawler P. J. O'Hara sped across Boston bay yesterday from the Georges Banks to land her third engineer, Clarence Gardner, of 103 Bryant street, Malden, who was stricken with appendicitis early yesterday.

The craft had sent a radio message and an ambulance was waiting at the fish pier to hurry the man to the Chelsea hospital.

Dec. 15

PIER LANDINGS SHORT OF THREE MILLION POUNDS

Receipts at the Boston fish pier for the week ending December 11 were light. Haddock were only in moderate supply and strong northeast winds hampered fishing operations. In consequence of light receipts prices ruled good, selling at six to 10 cents per pound. In the corresponding week of 1920, haddock sold at six to seven cents and in 1923, three and one-half to eight cents.

There were 126 arrivals during the week with 2,997,400 pounds of fresh fish. In the same week of 1929, there were 143 arrivals and receipts of 4,211,900 pounds.

From January 1 to date there have been 6110 arrivals and receipts of 255,015,350 pounds as compared with 5572 arrivals and receipts of 244,792,062 pounds in the same period of 1929.
